Undefeated Warriors

Jasiya Manzoor
Assistant Professor

In the stillness of night, under dim study lights,
Souls entwined, each heart burning bright.
With dreams as vast as the boundless skies,
They gathered their hopes, their courage, their sighs.

The doctor dreamer, with eyes full of care,
Healing hands ready to mend and repair.
Through pages of anatomy, night after night,
Chasing the dawn with unwavering might.

The IAS aspirant, a beacon of change,
With visions of justice, vast and strange.
Policies and laws, a mind deeply immersed,
Dreaming of a nation, its best and its worst.

A humble professor, knowledge as his guide,
With patience and wisdom, standing beside.
In the halls of learning, where futures take flight,
She nurtures young minds through each sleepless night.

Family, united by destiny's hand,
Shoulder to shoulder, they steadfastly stand.
Through trials and challenges, they never break,
Each step a promise, each breath they take.

In moments of doubt, when spirits would fall,
A touch, a word, they answer the call.
Lifting each other with laughter and tears,
Woven together through the passage of years.

As exams approach, with hearts pounding fast,
They lean on the bond that forever will last.
For in their togetherness, they found a way,
To turn the darkest night into day.

And when they look back on these nights of yore,
They remember the unity that meant so much more.

For dreams are but dreams, until shared with loved ones.
And their story of care and hope never ends.
