Forest Gossip

Kavya Reddy

In the deep forest, there was tumult inside
The trees stood high up peeping single creature
The climbers tries to climb as high Shrubs cover as they could try
They burst out into violence they clumb together to be strong

Oh! listen I can get apart as am strong to withstand myself rather than here inside Merely, they motion to plainland without violence Heard barely the bleating of cattles, survive to heat as they could try Vanishing one by one, the headache went high

Hey! persuade if I headout, you never climb high
I stand with elegant which attract human beings with strong
They cut me down and trim to sculpture then sell to try
When they be held and felt peace inside
Birds build their nest among with small creature
Living creature put us into violence

Animals, birds stood up with violence
That will be shaky if there is no tree high
The forest is left with no creature
The earth might be weak instead of strong
The creepers said, "We don't depend on anyone who's inside".
The shrubs told, "Can you withstand sun's heat and foot stamp then try"

The jungle cannot exist only with one species even if they try
We all need to calm down to put down the violence
The pride fallen through inside
They all laid down to leave the idea of high Altogether need to be brave and strong and fought against all the odds to bear up better life to living creature

Trees, scrubs, creepers, climbers and all creatur in the forest lead peaceful life without try to fight against each other and to be strong Thereafter they been amiable, left behind violence glancing the canopy formed by the trees in high
The gossip enclosed inside!
